Hello everyone,

I've worked with some EDAS students who have contacted me and wanted to fill you in on how I've been guiding them. We have students who are still needing to finish their degree requirements for the EDAS major. If they are majoring in EDAS (5094), I feel they need to follow those catalog requirements (i.e., 2008-09) to finish out the program. As long as they can complete the EDAS requirements that were in place when they began by summer 2011, they will be fine. Just because we have changed the program effective this fall, does not mean we need to have all EDAS majors change to the new program. As we discussed last semester, we will do course substitutions for any student who is lacking a course in the old program that we no longer offer but, other than deleted courses, they should complete all program requirements for EDAS (2008-09 or prior).

"New" students who started this summer and fall, have been advised based on EDLD program changes effective this fall.

Let me know if this is confusing. I will be sending an email clarification to all current EDAS majors. When advising, if they are listed as EDAS major, please run their CAPP using the EDAS (5094) major code to guarantee they are on track. Please feel free to come to my office and review any advisee's file. I will be glad to assist with any questions.

Thanks,
Staci
