Vegetarian Society Organizes Can Food Drive for Ice Storm Victims

The recent ice storm and weather conditions hit many people hard, leaving them without electricity, housing, food, and other necessities.

The Vegetarian Society started a, campus-wide food drive to collect food for We Care and the Kentucky ice storm victims, with the help of all students and student organizations.

Items collected included non-perishable or canned goods, and even pet food. Some of the food collected was delivered to Murray State University, and then distributed around Calloway Co. to families who were without water and electricity for almost a month. A couple of the families who received the supplies work for Murray State University. They suffered a tragic lost when thier apartment caught on fire during the storm, and because there was no water available at the time, they lost everything. With your help they were able to make it through this difficult time.

"UT Martin has so much to be proud of... Thank you to all our neighbors in Tennessee." Kim Griffo Coordinator of Advancement Services Murray State University

UTM Skyhawk Rugby vs. TN Tech

The Skyhawk Rugby Club recently hosted their second home game on February 14th vs. TN Tech. This game came after the Skyhawks traveled to the University of Memphis to crush them 17 to 0. In case you are new to rugby, it is similar to football, without the pads and helmets, but with a non-stop soccer pace. There are 15 players who play constantly for an entire game of two 40-minute halves and a five-minute intermission.

Advancing Equity for Women

The distinguished women of American Association of University Women boldly stand together in unity, as they strive to increase confidence amongst one another. One of their primary goals is to prove that women across the globe hold a significant stance in society. The AAUW Foundation places emphasis upon advancing educational and professional opportunities for women of the United States and around the globe. Each year, the foundation provides $4 million in fellowships, grants, and awards for excelling women and community projects. Currently, the Association has 1,000 branches and 500 college/university partners worldwide.

With one of these institutions being the University of Tennessee at Martin, our intentions are aimed towards the same goals locally. Initially, AAUW was founded on the campus of UTM in 2007, but as a group, we are constantly acquiring new members and wish to increase the number of members. In the previous semester of 2008, one of our primary objectives was raising money for women who were victims of domestic violence. However, this semester of 2009 we

The Collegiate Bass Anglers Finish 6th in Major FLW Event

The Collegiate Bass Anglers travelled to Lake Okeechobee in Clewiston, FL on Saturday February 28th to compete in the first ever National Guard FLW College Fishing event of the circuit's Southeast Division. The day was very promising and the team was filled with excitement as UT Martin landed 6th place out of a forty-boat field.

are preparing for the AAUW conference occurring in March, as well as fulfilling outside agendas dealing with women's issues. In addition, we seek to expound our diversity, being adaptable to nationalities of all kinds.

AAUW meets every other Thursday at 7:00pm in the Media Services Area of the Library.

Valentines Day Hearthbreak

Any football fan, girl or guy, can appreciate the game. The club team is relatively new in their first year of competition. This rag-tag collection of college students, with all levels of experience, from veterans to rookies, have generated a lot of interest in rural West Tennessee. According to head coach, Dr. Paul Higgs, "We also have several new people who have never played before. They have all done extremely well." Although the Skyhawks barely lost their home game 12 to 16, they continued to improve. The Rugby Clubs plans to have future games against teams like:

Vanderbilt, Austin Peay, Western Kentucky, Hopkinsville's Men's Team and MTSU.
