- Lane Last, associate professor of art, had three-works shown at the International Experimental Film Festival "Carbunari 2008" held at the Florean Contemporary Art Museum in Maramure, Romania, in November.

- Dr. Julie Hill, assistant professor of music, recently published a book for percussion, "Multi Percussion: A World View," (Alfred Publications, 2008). The book is coauthored by James Campbell from the University of Kentucky. In this collection of etudes, Hill has composed solos and duets for multiple percussion based on rhythms from Brazil, Ghana, Cuba, Korea, Japan and the United States. The solos include a cultural explanation of each style and are accompanied by substitution instruments to make them more accessible to percussion students in a variety of music programs.

- Dr. Joan West, director of Research, Grants and Contracts, was quoted several times regarding issues of compliance in research offices on college campuses in "The Ethical Imperative: Nine Reminders for Presidents about Compliance and Ethics," an article that appeared in the November/December/January edition of Public Purpose, a publication of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities.

Gordon to address graduates

Covington Mayor Dr. David Gordon will deliver the fall commencement address, at 11 a.m., Dec. 13, in the Kathleen and Tom Elam Center. Approximately 450 degrees are expected to be awarded.

Gordon became mayor in 2005 and served on the Tipton County Commission from 2002-2006. He is a member of the Covington Economic Development Corporation board of directors, Southwest Tennessee Economic Development Authority board, Tennessee Municipal League board and is West Tennessee Mayors Association vice president. He also is a member of the Covington-Tipton County Chamber of Commerce board and a member of the Tennessee Veterinary Medical Association. Gordon is a 2002 WestStar Leadership graduate, received the C.P. Boyd Leadership Award and serves on the WestStar board of trustees. He served on the UT Martin Development Committee from 2002-2006, including 2004-05 as chair.

Gordon received a bachelor's degree from UT Martin, where four generations of his family have attended, and graduated in the first class of the University of Tennessee College of Veterinary Medicine. He began private practice in Covington in 1979. He and his wife, Ruth Weeks Gordon, have three children, Cory, Jane and Carly.
