John Egerton is a professional writer from Nashville. Egerton was the recipient of the 2003 Southern Foodways Alliance Lifetime Achievement Award. His non-fiction books include Speak now Against the Day, a chronicle of events leading to the Civil Rights movement of the 1960's; Southern Food, a collection of recipes and tales of southern food; The Americanization of Dixie; the Southernization of America; and Cornbread Nation, an anthology of writings about food and the south.

Margrethe Ahlschwede is Director of the West Tennessee Writing Project, a site of the national Writing Project; and Professor of English at the University of Tennessee at Martin. Ahlschwede teaches courses in writing for beginning and advanced student.

Bill Ahlschwede, workshop director, is Instructor of first-year Composition at the University of Tennessee at Martin.

About the Tennessee Writers Alliance

The Tennessee Writers Alliance is a state-wide network of writers and those interested in writing. The Alliance publishes four newsletters each year, hosts an annual writing conference, sponsors writing workshops and writing contests, and plays a role in the Southern festival of Books. Through the newsletter, the Alliance informs members of call for manuscripts, writing contests, and writing activities. Membership information will be available at the workshop. Check out the TWA web page at <http://www.tn-writers.org>.

Membership, program, and activities of the Tennessee Writers Alliance are open to all, regardless of race, color, national origin, disability, age, religion, and sex.
