From the UTM Addenda: Clinton Smith, associate professor of special education at the University of Tennessee at Martin, is one of five higher education faculty or staff members statewide to win a 2018 Harold Love Outstanding Community Service Award, as chosen by a Tennessee Higher Education Commission taskforce. The award was officially presented during a reception April 27 in Nashville.

In his nomination letter, Chancellor Carver noted that Clinton teaches by example, and his students benefit from his efforts both in the community and in his classroom. But it is not only his college students who profit, it is the students who participate in regional Special Olympics events and their teachers and family members who watch them succeed in their chosen competitions” See utm.edu/departments/univrel/headline.php?id=3 for the full article.
