

October 31, 2018

"Kiwaniis is a global organization of volunteers dedicated to improving the world, one child and one community at a time."

Program

Thrills and Chills: Ghostly Activity in Martin stories of paranormal activity in Martin and Halloween celebrations at UT Martin told by members and guests.

Future Programs

- Nov. 7 — Chelsea White, Public Health Educator, Weakley County Health Department — childhood vaccinations, lack thereof and other public health issues
- Noc. 14 — Robert Nunley, Program Director, Martin Learning Enrichment Center
- Nov. 28 — Christmas Parade Final Update
- Dec. 12 — Annual Christmas luncheon -- Champions Club

First object of Kiwanis

To give primacy to the human and spiritual rather than to the material values of life.

Club News

K-Kids to host Jane Goodall Thursday. K-Kids is participating in Kiwanis' Read to Lead program using biographical graphic novels of Helen Keller, Jane Goodall, Jackie Robinson and Albert Einstein. On Thursday, Jane Goodall, the world's foremost expert on chimpanzees, will visit K-Kids (in the form of Ann Gathers dressed the part). Goodall (Ann) is best known for her over 55-year study of social and family interactions of wild chimpanzees

November Birthdays

- S.K. Airee..... Nov. 12
- Evelyn Blythe..... Nov. 29

After we moved to Martin, we first met Mike Rea Martin in his capacity as a proponent of, and coach in, the youth soccer league. In a totally different capacity (that of president of the Weakley County Historical and Genealogical Society and a Weldon Library trustee) we welcomed him to our meeting last week. Pictured along with him are two trustees of that society, Bill Austin and Roberta Peacock.

Mike is the go-to person for information about local cemeteries and everything genealogical. With more and more persons seeking out family histories and locations of graves, web sites like findagrave.com (a volunteer-supported web site providing photos of gravestones, obituaries and even stories) and familysarch.org are great aids in finding information about our ancestors.

As Danelle reported, on Mike's presentation, "It's amazing how technology is helping folks who are searching for information!"

Happy Halloween!
