Using resources and accessing information — Katie Parr, director of Martin Public Library (MPL), encouraged Kiwanis members present at the Jan. 11 meeting to continue using the many resources at their local library and also to explore available virtual options, including the Tennessee Electronic Library (TEL), a virtual library that can be accessed anywhere in Tennessee. Katie explained that more than 400,000 free electronic resources including magazines, scholarly journals, podcasts, videos, e-books, test preparation materials, federal census records, Tennessee primary source materials, and more can all be found through TEL. She also noted that more than 2000 new library cards had been distributed since the opening of the new library.

Earl Wright, Kiwanis program facilitator for January, introduced Katie and thanked her for the good work she is doing at MPL. He noted that Katie will mark her first year
