

Government Lands in West Tennessee

The following map includes both federal and state lands in West Tennessee. These lands range from military installations to parks and refuges. The military lands are shown in gray, while the parks are in green

This map may serve useful in a government class. It could be used to show federal and state government control over lands in West Tennessee. The various reasons for commissioning the lands could be discussed.

What can be seen in this map are the lands belonging to state and federal governments. These lands were set aside for various reasons. Some are archaeological sites, military parks, and wildlife reserves. The lands were commissioned in order to conserve heritage, resources, and beauty. The military installations were created for national defense.

After Tennessee Department of Transportation, Planning Division 1992 and Rand McNally 1998

