

Committee on Instruction Five Year Course Review Humanities

Courses in Humanities undergo comprehensive reviews by the Faculty Senate Committee on Instruction in Spring of years ending in 3 or 8. The comprehensive review serves as justification for a course’s continued inclusion in the General Education Core curriculum. A course review packet consists of (1) this completed form and (2) a copy of the most recent syllabus for this course. Once you have assembled the review packet, submit the packet to the current Chair of the Faculty Senate Committee on Instruction and to Stephanie Kolitsch (styler@utm.edu). The Faculty Senate web page lists the current committee chairs and committee memberships (see the “Faculty Senate and Committee Memberships” link). Packets are due by January 31 of the review year.

The tables below list the student learning outcomes for Humanities. The first table lists outcomes through the 2017-18 academic year. The second table lists the outcomes effective with the 2018-19. In some cases, departments may have chosen to assess the newer outcomes in 2017-18.

For each outcome, indicate whether assessment benchmark(s) have been MET or NOT MET for each of the five previous years. If assessments for an outcome were not conducted during a particular year, indicate so by typing NA.

Outcome (through 2017-18 catalog)	Results from:
	2017-18 (if applicable)
1. Students will practice the critical and analytical methodologies of the humanities.
2. Students will analyze significant primary sources in the humanities.
3. Students will explain the ways in which humanistic expression reflects the culture and values of its time and place.
4. Students will compare critically the ideas and values, processes, and institutions that have created the modern world.
5. Students will recognize the diversity and interconnectedness of human experience across a range of historical periods and global cultures and societies.
6. Students will analyze the contributions of past cultures and societies and the patterns of continuity and change that have affected human history.

Outcome (beginning with 2018-19 catalog)	Results from:
	2017-18 (if applicable)	2018-19	2019-20	2020-21	2021-22
1. Students will analyze major primary sources of the humanities.
2. Students will examine the diversity of human experience in various humanistic media.
3. Students will recognize the continuity and change within the human experience as understood in the humanities.

Summarize any efforts to enhance student learning that have been implemented in this course during this five-year time period. Where feasible, discuss evidence of how these efforts have impacted student learning. (This narrative should not simply be cut-and-pasted from annual assessment reports. Instead, the narrative should represent the cumulative examination of the past five years of annual assessment and should reflect a broader analysis of the longitudinal results of efforts to enhance student learning in this course.)

Attach a copy of the most recent syllabus for this course. Submit the completed review packet to the Chair of the Faculty Senate Committee on Instruction and to Stephanie Kolitsch (styler@utm.edu) by January 31 of the review year.
